HAWAIIAN COMMERCIAL AND SUGAR COMPANY.

WILDER'S STEAMSHIP COMPANY.
Agents John A. Roebing's Sons Co. Honolulu.

Gentlemen: Yours of March 25th re catalogue of ship chandlery goods has been received.

We have used a number of the John A. Roebing's steam plow cables, and have found them far superior to the English cables, and at the same time a great deal cheaper. In fact, we sent for some of these cables and we put a new Roebing and a new Fuller cable on the same set of steam plows, one on each engine, of course, and that was considerably over a year ago. The American cable is much better than the English cable in every way, and today is not nearly as heavy. We are perfectly satisfied here that the American cables are the best.

We still certainly bear in mind your stock of goods whenever we need anything in your line.

Very truly,
(Signed) W. J. LOWRIE,
Manager.

NEWS OF THE WATERFRONT

Tramp Steamship Strathgyle Here.

The Freighter Hawaiian Makes Port From Kahului.

WHEN the tramp steamship Strathgyle was sighted yesterday, coming from the Orient, the majority of people thought that the Sonoma, from the Colonies, was approaching.

Early in the afternoon the Strathgyle was alongside the Pacific Mail wharf, and soon afterwards commenced to discharge cargo for this port.

The tramp sailed from Yokohama on the 9th instant, two days before the City of Peking left that port. She brought no passengers for Honolulu, but has aboard four European passengers for the Coast, and a dozen Chinese. Four Japanese stowaways are also on the vessel. She brought about twelve hundred tons of Oriental merchandise for this port, all of which will be fumigated, and has something like two thousand tons of freight for San Diego and San Francisco.

The Strathgyle made a good run from the Orient, for a tramp steamship, although she experienced anything but pleasant weather the latter part of the voyage. She was working cargo all last night, and expects to get away for San Diego this evening, going thence to San Francisco.

Captain Gordon is the commander of the Strathgyle. The other officers are as follows: First Officer Peacock, Second Officer Brown, Third Officer Fields, and Chief Engineer Jackman.

Four Japanese Stowaways.

While the Strathgyle remains in the harbor four Japanese, three women and one man, are confined in the chart room aboard the vessel, handcuffed together in pairs. They are stowaways, and hid on the vessel just before she sailed from Yokohama. They stowed away in the forward hatch, and were not discovered until after the ship had been at sea for some time.

While the vessel is in port the officers deem it best to keep the stowaways locked up, for if they managed to get ashore the steamship would be apt to get into trouble with the customs department, as have other Oriental steamships recently.

The four Japanese presented a queer sight in the chart room. Two of the women were handcuffed together, while the other woman was handcuffed to the man. They seemed to be comfortable, however, for they were reclining in easy positions, upon bundles of clothing and bedding, and were passing the time away by smoking and conversing.

The officers of the vessel do not know the reason for the Japanese stowing away. There is no one on board who can speak Japanese to any extent, and no conversation has been had with them. It is thought, however, for reasons which are evident, that the object of the desire of stowaways to get to the States is not of a nature which reflects credit upon the male member of the party.

The Strathgyle belongs to the new Japanese-San Diego line.

The Hawaiian From Kahului.

The American-Hawaiian Steamship Company's big freighter Hawaiian, arrived in port yesterday morning from Kahului. She docked at the Railway wharf, where she will discharge a large amount of freight for this port, consisting of machinery, hardware, structural iron and general merchandise.

The Hawaiian is on her maiden trip to Honolulu. She sailed from New York on January 27th, but was delayed at San Francisco, owing to an accident, for over a month. In San Francisco she underwent repairs.

On the 7th instant the Hawaiian sailed from San Francisco for Kahului. She took one of the largest shipments of machinery to Maui ever attempted, for the Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Company, intended for that company's new mill.

The vessel has aboard a great quantity of structural iron for the Alexander Young building, from Milliken Brothers, of New York.

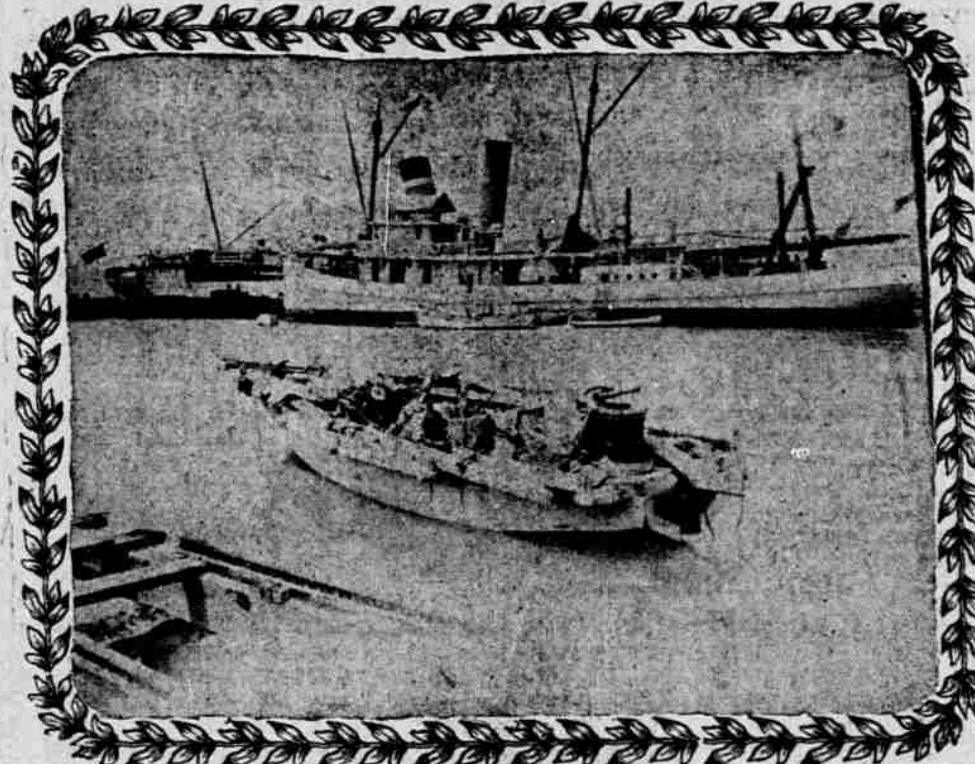

Before the Hawaiian returns on her regular run to New York she will take a special load of sugar to San Francisco.

The commander of the Hawaiian is Captain Richard Bainbridge. He has been master of the bark St. James and the ships Edward O'Brien and May Flint. It was only owing to his sickness at the time that he was not commander of the Edward O'Brien when she was wrecked on the reef which protects this harbor, and where her bones now lie.

Iroquois to Make Trial Trip.

The United States tug Iroquois will make a trial trip for the purpose of testing her engines. She will sail today or tomorrow.

She has been lying idle at her berth ever since she returned from her trip to Midway Islands. Recently she was on the marine railway and underwent an overhauling, having her bottom scraped and other necessary attention paid to her.
